

WE'VE INNOVATED

In 2009, NSERC's Strategy for Partnerships and Innovation challenged us with an ambitious call to action to help companies become more innovative and find the talent needed to succeed in a competitive and ever-changing global economy.

The goal

To connect companies and researchers, helping them collaborate on challenges facing business and helping Canada's economy prosper.

The results

50,000 Students

trained in industry to hone their business skills for S&T careers of the future.

3,000 Companies

every year work with university and college research teams to solve their problems.

$195 million

in company contributions to research in 2014, up from $108 million in 2009.
